

Financially impacted by COVID-19? Let's talk.

If you're a renter facing financial challenges caused by COVID-19, reach out to your landlord or property manager to learn more about relief options.

When talking to them:

Be transparent. Share your situation and how your income has been affected.

Cite your sources. Consider mentioning any resource and assistance options you've found.

Suggest solutions. Ask about payment arrangements, like temporary rent reductions.

Get personal. Explain how eviction would impact your family.

Keep records. Save all written correspondence between you and your landlord or property manager, and take notes when talking in person.

Stay calm. Clarity is key.
